BRILLIANT SHOW FOR LONDON LORD MAYOR

Elaborate Ceremonies Held Over Incoming of New Lord Mayor of World's Metropolis.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
London, Nov. 9.—The three-hundred Lord Mayor's show took place today, and the new Lord Mayor of London, Sir John Charles Bell, was formally installed in office, succeeding Sir William Trenchard. The turnout of the population was the largest of recent years, while the procession was exceedingly spectacular.

The successes achieved by amateurs in the great pageants held at Warwick and Bury St. Edmunds last summer decided the committee in charge of the Lord Mayor's parade on an important experiment. The help of amateurs was invited, and the spectacular element was placed in their hands. The principal spectacle afforded their talents excellent scope. It was a pageant of Royal Edwards—the name of Edward, being the name of the confessor, and ending with Edward VI. Each of the Edwards was surrounded by the most prominent people of his reign. Several hundred horsemen were in line, and a similar number of characters were represented by men on foot.

To complete this spectacle it was closed by a representation, on an ambitious scale, of the present Edward's reign. The principal feature was a great harvest thanksgiving car, emblematic of the fact that Britain is at peace with the world. In the center of the car was a pretty girl, representing the figure of Peace, and female figures standing at each of the corners were symbolic of Europe, America, Asia and Africa.

The route of the procession was from Guildhall to Chesham, thence through Coleman, Park, Moorgate, King William, Cannon Street, St. Paul's Churchyard, Ludgate Hill and Fleet Street to the Law Courts, where his Lordship was received by the Lord Chancellor. The return was via the Strand, Northumberland Avenue, the Victoria Embankment and Queen Victoria Street to the Guildhall. The business houses along the route of the procession were elaborately decorated, and it was noticeable that the enthusiasm on the part of the multitude was the most pronounced whenever the four bands in the "Golden State" or the national anthem.

The ceremonies of the day concluded with the customary brilliant banquet at the Guildhall, attended by the cabinet ministers, foreign ambassadors and many other guests of note. The scene in the banquet hall was one of even more than ordinary brilliancy. The huge oaken rafters were decorated with flags and bunting, the hall was brilliantly lighted, showing to the best of advantage the glittering uniforms and the dresses and jewels of the ladies.

Sir John Charles Bell, who will be the titular ruler of the City of London during the ensuing twelve months, is sixty-three years old and has already served as Sheriff of London, which is necessary before one can become eligible to the Lord Mayor's chair. He is best known as the chairman and managing director of the Western Electric Company. For many years he has taken an active interest in municipal affairs, joining the Council of Common Council in 1882. Then he became successively chairman of the Officers and Clerks' Committee, of the General Purposes Committee and of the Corn and Finance Committee, and served as Deputy Governor of the Irish Society.

The new Lord Mayor is also high in the councils of several city companies. He is on the Court of the Haberdashers' Company, a past master of the Grocers' Company, and is on the list of the Inholders, Liverymen and Spectacle-makers' companies.

Deloit Fire Chief Charges One of His Men with Intoxication While on Duty.

Deloit, Wis., Nov. 9.—Fire Chief Goss presented a formal complaint against one of his firemen, Thos. Curless, for intoxication while on duty to the board of Fire and Police commissioners who sat in session last evening, the complaint being a surprise to everyone. The commissioners will hold a meeting Monday night when their verdict in the case of Chief Goss, Assistant Chief Hunter, and Driver Butler, who has been present at on several charges, will be announced at the same time they render their decision in the complaint brought by Goss against his fireman. The decisions in these cases is anxiously looked forward to by local citizens who have been much interested in the trials held before the board of commissioners.

Explains the Reason.
President Powers of the senior class of Deloit college, explained the reason for the large receipts at this year's football games at the annual banquet of Deloit Alumni living in Milwaukee held in the Cream City last night when he said that the high receipts of the college are due to the large monetary returns from the games. He declared that the college did not pay men to play football and allowed commercialism to creep into the athletics of the college as little as possible. He also pointed out that the present college team is composed mostly of Freshmen, the upperclassmen finding too many other interests in higher education to occupy their time to play football.

LARGE MEETING OF MISSIONARIES IS ON

Largest Gathering of Foreign Missionaries Ever Held on Coast Opens at Seattle Today.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
Seattle, Wash., Nov. 9.—The most notable gathering of foreign missionaries that has ever been held on the Pacific Coast opened in Seattle today and will continue through the coming week. The occasion is the world's convention of the Foreign Mission Society of the Methodist church, and it will be followed a week hence by the meeting of the Home Board of Portland. It is the first time that these meetings have ever been held in this section of the country. They have attracted a distinguished gathering of churchmen and missionaries representing all parts of the world. It is expected that at both meetings the administration of Methodist mission funds will be warmly debated. During the past ten years the scope of Methodist missions, especially those abroad, has increased enormously. Now the appeals for missions in the United States are demanding attention. For some years the appeals have been answered by a percentage increase. Now it is said to be likely that the whole situation will be gone over with even more care than usual, and perhaps a different basis of award decided upon.

LABOR LEADERS MEET AT NORFOLK MONDAY

Talk of Quoting Comptroller and Executive Council Has Excited Interest But Is Not Serious.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
Norfolk, Va., Nov. 9.—The advance guard of delegates is putting in an appearance for the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, which is to begin its sessions here Monday. The convention promises to be well attended. There will be delegates from Maine and from as far West as California and Oregon. All classes of labor, from the most skilled to the commonest and most poorly paid, will be represented. Talk of opposition to the re-election of President Comptroller and the present members of the executive council has aroused considerable interest, though it is not believed that the movement stands any chance of success at the present convention. The steps taken by the manufacturers to test the legality of the so-called "black list" of the federation in the United States courts will receive attention. Another matter in which considerable interest is taken at this time is the question as to whether the federation will take any active part in the presidential campaign of next year. It is expected that President Comptroller, in his annual message, will discuss the plan in this direction. If any have been made, there will be a warm fight for the next convention of the federation, with Seattle, Denver, Toronto and several other cities as the contestants.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

The nation is facing today a new and untried experience, and it remains to be seen how this new problem will be solved. The era of prosperity which has blessed us as a people, during the past decade, has been so bright with promise and so rich in fulfillment that we are not yet prepared to meet the new straitened conditions, nor appreciate their significance.

Various theories have been advanced, and others will be exploited, in efforts to explain the causes which led to the money stringency, but whatever the cause, changed conditions exist, and the cold stubborn fact must be recognized.

There are three elements which enter into what is known as capital, and all are important. One is money, represented by specie, currency, and bills of exchange, used for convenience in channels of business.

This is a fraction in volume as compared to the next item, which is known as property, and includes all kinds of real estate, stocks of merchandise, and all other personal belongings. Above and beyond these tangible assets is the third element, and most important of all, and this is faith in humanity, known in the business world as confidence.

The nation has today more money than it ever had before. It possesses more wealth by many billions than it ever possessed before, and yet with all this wealth and money its industries are embarrassed, and its banks and financial centers disturbed and humiliated.

These conditions demonstrate very clearly that faith in humanity, and the confidence which it inspires is the one great factor in capital, and when this is impaired or lost the other elements are practically helpless.

Some years ago a young man from the west visited New York to buy a stock of dry-goods and engage in business for himself. He had $1,000 in cash and he needed $5,000 worth of goods.

He was a thousand miles from home, without acquaintance or reference, but he had an honest face, and a personality so charged with ambition and energy that it inspired confidence.

The credit man recommended him for credit and he went home with $5,000 worth of goods to commence a long and successful business career.

With but little money and no material wealth, his capital stock was represented by 20 per cent cash and 80 per cent confidence.

A bank with $50,000 capital is entrusted with a million dollars of other people's money. Five per cent represents the capital invested and 95 per cent the stock of confidence inspired.

And so all through the channels of business, faith in humanity plays the most important part. This faith demands, not only confidence in character and integrity, but also in ability.

It matters not how honest a man may be, if he commands confidence and secures credit, he must possess ability, backed by energy and ambition. Tabulated statements, sent out by the great commercial agencies, show that only a small fraction of the business failures result from dishonesty.

Incompetency heads the list and this covers many minor deficiencies such as neglect, lack of energy, poor judgment with many attendant weaknesses.

He life or with lines of business dependent upon the public for patronage and support.

The stock in trade of a public official is his ability to retain the confidence and support of his constituency. President Roosevelt has shared this sort of confidence in larger degree than any American now in public life, but he has passed the zenith of his popularity because a liberal element of his constituency held him in a measure accountable for present conditions.

His honesty and courage are not questioned, but his zeal in efforts to reform has so aroused public sentiment that drastic measures, while punishing the guilty, have caused many innocent people to suffer, and so confidence in his judgment is weakened.

Someone recently said that modern American reform means burning down the house to destroy the vermin, and in the light of numerous experiences, the statement contains more truth than fiction.

The $29,000,000 judgment against the Standard Oil company, made Judge Landis a hero, and opened up a new and easy way to fame. Yesterday an unknown Judge in California, imposed a fine of $33,000 on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway company, convicted on 47 counts of small rebates. Like the Standard Oil case, a penalty was attached to every count.

On the same principle if a man was guilty of a dozen murders and sentenced to be hung, he would need a dozen lives to satisfy the demands of modern justice.

That is the sort of cheap notoriety which demoralizes the nation today, and but for the timely halt which came so abruptly a few days ago, every railroad in the land would have been called upon to contribute to this kind of fame.

Public confidence is just now a floating commodity. It has cut loose from radical reformers and reformers, and for the first time in many months is asking the serious but timely question, "Where are we at?"

In this unsettled condition, banks as well as all kinds of business will suffer, but out of it will come a period of sanity and common sense, for the American people possess these graces in rare degree, and while temporarily lulled by muckrakers and fanatical leaders, they will now devote time to sober thought and practical reform.

The church appropriates faith as a peculiar gift from God, and constantly urges its disciples to ask for a larger supply.

The business world appropriates the same faculty of mind and heart, and encourages its development without thought of the authorship or peculiar gift.

Both are right, for while the church inspires faith in the unseen and causes hope in immortality to bud and blossom, the material world develops the same faculty in other channels and the world rejoices in the fruitage.

Faith is as natural as the breath of life. It is the first faculty to manifest itself in the embryo mind of the child and finds expression in the soft baby fingers and sigh of satisfaction which greets the mother as she bends over the cradle and soothes to sleep the latest arrival in the home.

As the years advance this faculty develops until it reaches out beyond the confines of the home, and touches humanity at every point.

We call it confidence, because faith is a Bible word of sacred origin, but it is the same thing, both in essence and practice.

It is the salt which preserves in the life that is, the sheet anchor which holds the old world steady, as well as the anchor to the soul when "cast within the veil."

Just now the nation is suffering through the impaired loss of confidence. Whatever may be the causes, confidence is shattered, and until it is regained and established there will be no permanent relief.

This is the one and only cause for alarm, and all thinking people of every creed or no creed, should unite in an effort to restore the most valuable asset that this or any other nation ever possesses.

PRESS COMMENT.

Glad, But Apprehensive.
Evening Wisconsin: It is with mixed emotions that William Jennings Bryan congratulates Tom. L. Johnson on his reelection.

Time For Bourke to Brace Up.
Milwaukee Sentinel: Bourke Cockran had better learn where he is boarding. He seems to have trouble in voting at the right place.

Wasn't That Always the Theory?
Fond du Lac Reporter: As though this did not have enough to answer for, the census bureau has now placed on the mother-in-law as the moving cause in the majority of divorce suits.

Science For Science's Sake.
New York Post: New light on the question whether atheism is a pure or applied science was shed when an Indian fruit vendor knocked out the national champion at putting the sixteen pound shot.

Where 'Tis Folly to Be Wise.
Marquette Eagle Star: It is stated that there are a great many men and women in New York City who never saw a cow. We know there were large quantities of milk sold there that suffered the same disadvantage.

Trying on the Dog.
Madison Democrat: A Connecticut man is suing for divorce because his wife persisted in feeding him on sausage. Thus another family will go to the law-suits because of the dog-eaten perversity of woman.

Delighted!
Oshkosh Northwestern: And another thing to be thankful for is the fact this financial flurry came this year instead of next, when the voters of the nation will be busy trying to make up their mind what kind of a man they want for president.

As to "Managing" a Sentiment.
La Crosse Tribune: There is that in the business-like method of Mr. Ekern which inspires a hope that the great sentiment existing for Senator La Follette in many of the states will not be impotent for want of systematic management.

Football on Its Last Legs.
Fond du Lac Bulletin: It seems that in some way there has been a great decline in the game of football this year. Thus far, at least, there have been no remarkable games and few good ones. From all sides come reports of weak teams and the stories of the contests seem to indicate that they are right. There is, in consequence, less enthusiasm among outsiders as to the game.

Why Coal Should Be Soaked.
Youth's Companion: When coal is left for a long time exposed to the air it deteriorates. Not only does it become more pliable, but chemical changes take place which diminish its heating power when burned. Experiments made by the English admiralty have shown that coal stored under water, and particularly under sea water, keeps most of the deterioration that it undergoes in the open atmosphere.

THE RE-DISCOVERED ALPHABET

which composes the 240 Word Vocabulary enabling each human to converse with THE CREATOR was known to every Prophet, Priest, Saint and Bible-writer not for any reason of being better than men of today but because they were acquainted with this secret alphabet which is "The Index to All Learning and Knowledge, the meaning and use of which was lost during the Dark Ages."

That Alphabet is now being re-discovered and again brought into practical use, is very simple, can be quickly learned and enables each possessor thereof to resume The Lost Fellowship with the Omnipresent and to henceforth live and walk in the conscious presence of an "Impartial (Interested, In-the-lowest-just-as-much-as-in-the-highest) Creator" with a full understanding of the arrangement, methods, designs, and to be conunmated utterances of this vast Creation.

It seems unbelievable that the mass of the people oppose the gift of such great advantages, cheating themselves and putting off to the future, blessings which are theirs to enjoy upon demand.

If you can be made to understand that your attitude toward this Re-Discovery is of no consequence, neither hindrance nor advantage to the Re-Discoverer, that you possess absolutely nothing which he considers of value, nor which he will accept in exchange for these instructions, you might be able to consider the subject free from prejudice and the usual accompanying suspicions of graft.

That many others may awaken to Actual Values, advantages and privileges I shall continue my endeavors to explain FACTS, trusting to the future to endow noble minds with that Divine Ability to perceive these simple things which secure Happiness and Permanent Prosperity.

NOT HOLDING ON TO THEIR MONEY

NEW YORK BANKS TRYING TO SUPPLY THE COUNTRY.

AIDING WEST AND SOUTH

Lack of Currency Checks the Cotton Movement—Gold Imported from Europe Well Distributed.

New York, Nov. 9.—The leading New York banks were exerting themselves actively Friday to meet the demands of their country correspondents and depositors for currency. They declare that the suggestions made from several western sources that they are not meeting legitimate demands for currency from the west are entirely unfounded and that they are, on the contrary, taking every practicable measure to aid the west and south.

One of these large banks, with several thousand correspondents, has depleted its reserve by about a quarter during the last few weeks to supply currency where it is most needed, and has made large shipments to banks in San Antonio, Galveston, Memphis, Mobile, Atlanta and other southern points. The country banks have been allowed to draw down their balances to a point which affords in many cases hardly more than enough to meet the drafts sold in the ordinary course of business. They have brought paper for redemptions to their New York correspondents in large amounts and the principal difficulty of the New York banks has come from the demand for currency to be shipped against the balances created by these redemptions.

Cotton Movement Checked.
It is admitted that the cotton movement is seriously checked by the lack of small bills and silver to pay the small growers and by the inability of the southern banks to handle the immense volume of business accumulating at southern points. The grain shipments are in better shape, owing to the gold secured by the banks of Minneapolis and St. Paul and arrangements for paying cash in New York on grain bills.

The New York banks feel bound to retain a certain proportion of reserve to guard against possible contingency, because they fulfill in substance the function which is fulfilled in London by the Bank of England and in Paris by the Bank of France—as the ultimate resource in emergency.

Foreign Gold Well Scattered.
The stream of surplus gold pouring into New York has not been halted here to meet local demands, but is being allowed to flow through the financial arteries of the United States and relieve the needs of agriculture and other industries generally. Gold imports state that nearly all of the $21,000,000 which has already reached here will soon find its way to every quarter of the country. Nearly $12,000,000 has been shipped to the interior this week. Gold has been shipped from here to Chicago in such large amounts, it is understood in local banking circles, that the issuance of circulating bank scrip in Chicago may not be necessary. The greater part of the $12,000,000 arriving on the steamer Lusitania and of the $28,000,000 still to come, will be immediately expressed to out-of-town banks.

German Rate Is Raised.
Berlin, Nov. 9.—The discount rate of the Imperial Bank of Germany was raised Friday from 6 1/2 to 7 1/2 per cent. When it became known among the city banks that the central committee of the Imperial bank had been summoned to meet there was a tremendous pressure to get paper discounted before the change was made. Representatives of the banks appeared in great numbers at the Imperial bank before the opening hour, only, however, to find a notice posted to the effect that the bank would be closed until 11 o'clock for a general inspection of the premises. This device enabled the committee to mark up the rate before the day's business began.

SAY CONGRESS MAY FINANCE WATERWAY

ADVOCATES OF SHIP CHANNEL
BECOME MORE HOPEFUL.

MOTIVE NOT MERCENARY.

Government More Likely to Aid the Project Since Illinois Is Not Seeking to Create Water Power.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 9.—Persons interested in the development of a deep sea canal Friday took a more hopeful view of the situation, some believing it not unlikely that congress may make an appropriation to begin the work.

The blow struck to state ownership of water power in Attorney General Stead's opinion of Thursday is pointed to as a potent argument in favor of the financing of the deep waterways project by the national government. It is thought that when it is shown that Illinois wants a waterway and not water power, congress will favor the movement.

When the subject of an appropriation for the furtherance of the lakes to the gulf canal was before congress last winter, the principal argument against the project was that Illinois wanted the federal government to spend millions for the construction of the waterway in order that the state might reap a harvest of millions through the sale of water power created.

Not Mercenary Motive.

Chairman Burton, of the rivers and harbors committee, quoted from Gov. Deneen's message to the assembly on the subject, in an attempt to substantiate his charge that the interest of Illinois in the deep waterways movement was mercenary. "This argument is believed by many to have been the cause of the defeat of the appropriation. Now that the state of Illinois probably cannot profit by the water power created, it is predicted by friends of the movement that congress will take up the subject in earnest, with the probable result that a liberal appropriation will be forthcoming.

BERLIN'S "RIPPER" CONFESSES.

Slayer of Little Girl Proves to Be An Epileptic Apprentice.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—The series of crimes resembling the "Jack the Ripper" murders in London in 1888-1889, only that here the victims were little girls instead of women, has been cleared up through the confession of a printer's apprentice named Paul Minow, an epileptic, 22 years of age, who recently was confined in an asylum for lunacy at Herzhberg.

The authorities of the institution were informed that Minow had been talking in a rambling manner of the murders, suspected him of having committed the crimes and encouraged him to talk, with the result that he freely related in an artless fashion how he had been haunted by his mother and sister with madness, had gone out into the streets in a rage and had vented his feelings by stabbing four little girls one after the other. He then rambled about the city for awhile and eventually returned home. It does not appear that the mother and sister of Minow were aware of what he had done, but his mind became so disordered that they sent him to the asylum a week later. The police have confirmed Minow's confession.

Begin Right

For all forms of nervous diseases take Dr. Miles' Nervine, whether it be simple nervousness, or those nerve destroying fits and convulsions. It is a tonic for weak nerves—It will restore nervous energy, and give strength to the entire system.

"In 1898 my little daughter was stricken with paralysis of the brain. For seven long weeks she lay like one dead. At times she would rub her eyes and open her mouth, but the words of two of our best doctors and they could do nothing for her. At times it would take two persons to hold her in bed, and for seven days and nights we had to keep her little head propped in bed, the pain she suffered was so severe. Mr. Miles' Nervine, the druggist advised Dr. Miles' Nervine. I got a bottle and began giving a teaspoonful every two hours. After about ten days she began to quiet down, and within two weeks' time she could sit up in bed, and rapidly improved from that time. We have given her about twenty-five bottles of Nervine along with the Nerve and Liver Pills, and to-day she is well and healthy as ever. My wife and I were completely worn out; staying up nights with our little one during her sickness, so we began taking the Nervine ourselves, and with the very best results."

CONGRESSMAN M'KINNEY TELLS OF THEIR GREAT WEALTH.

Declares the Tariff on Sugar and Tobacco Should Be Removed at Once.

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—After an extended tour of the orient, Philippines and Hawaii, Congressman James McKinney, from the Rock Island district, Illinois, returned to this city Friday on the steamer Persia.

As a member of the territorial committee which left here last June, Congressman McKinney visited Honolulu and later the Philippines, where an exhaustive study of conditions was made. According to the congressman, we must never entertain any idea of letting the islands go. He said:

"The resources of the islands are unbounded. Great coal, copper and gold deposits have been found and even greater wealth seems in store for the United States in other respects. The immense timber holdings, for instance, 'There is one thing,' he added, 'that must be done quickly for the Philippines if America would better conditions there, and that is to remove the revenue on sugar and tobacco.'"

At Honolulu, Congressman McKinney declared, congressmen should be more encouraged, although prosperity was to be found on all sides. While proceeding to Hongkong the congressman experienced a terrible typhoon while a passenger on the steamer Kow Look. During his stay in Japan he was shown every courtesy and says that he failed to notice any belligerent attitude on the part of the Japanese.

Other arrivals from the orient on the Persia were American Consul J. Lloyd from Shanghai, and J. H. Sharp, stationed at Kobe, Japan. The latter emphatically denied that any hint of a war was in evidence in Japan relative to the United States, but stated that the greatest courtesy is being shown all Americans in the far east.

New York Appellate Court Decides in Its Favor.

New York, Nov. 9.—Under the decision of the appellate division of the supreme court of this state Friday, the curb stock market will continue to be one of the unique features of the financial district. James A. Allen sought to secure an order from court several weeks ago to compel the police commissioners to abolish the curb market on the ground that its noise and crowding of Broad street were a detriment to the business of the occupants of nearby office buildings. The lower court, however, dismissed Mr. Allen's application and the appellate division sustained the decision.

JOSEPH H. CHOATE CHOSEN

ELECTED PRESIDENT OF CIVIL SERVICE REFORM LEAGUE.

Resolutions Adopted Commending
Roosevelt and Urging Congress to End Patronage Distribution.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The annual meeting of the National Civil Service Reform league practically ended Friday afternoon. A brief informal session will be held Saturday, after which the delegates will visit Niagara Falls.

Joseph H. Choate was elected president and resolutions were adopted commending President Roosevelt for "determined and effective enforcement of civil service laws and rules," and expressing satisfaction that congress gives evidence of stronger support of the principles of the merit system.

The resolutions urge congress to take further steps to relieve its members entirely from the "unprofitable labor of distributing patronage," and urge the president and congress to provide for competitive classification of assistant postmasters, pension examining surgeons and fourth-class postmasters; also to provide that all other postmasters and all collectors of customs and internal revenue shall be appointed by promotion, thereby abolishing the present practice of appointing inexperienced persons.

The president is urged to "make such amendments to the civil service rules as will reduce to the minimum the practice of making special exceptions thereto." The policy of placing Indian agents in charge of an appointment classified under the competitive system is approved.

GAVE HIS LIFE TO SAVE TOWN.

Heroism of Mexican Engineer in Explosion at Nacozari, Ariz.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 9.—The death list as a result of the Nacozari explosion Thursday is now placed at 14 or 15, all Mexicans, besides John Chisholm, aged 13, who was riding on the train when the explosion occurred.

A train on the narrow gauge railroad to the Pihres mine in some way caught fire. In the train were two open cars heavily loaded with explosives, and the fact that the concentrator and a good part of the town of Nacozari were saved from ruin was due to the bravery of the Mexican engineer of the train, Jesus Garcia. Realizing that to cut out the burning cars and escape on the engine would expose the town to probable destruction, he called to the rest of the crew to jump and started to run the train away from the town. He had taken it about a half mile when the explosion occurred and he was blown to atoms. It is reported that another member of the crew stayed with him and was killed. The heavy death list is due to the fact that the explosion occurred just as the train was passing a section house in which were a number of section men.

Will Wisconsin Wake Up?
Exchange: The indications are that Wisconsin university faculty is to be called by a state-wide writ this fall for a general and vehement that it will enforce a new athletic policy at Madison, says Walter Eckwold, unless Wisconsin's football team makes a better showing in the games still remaining, the university professors will be open to much criticism. It is felt that the faculty members who have opposed all athletic projects have injured the university. A new movement is on foot to bring political pressure to bear on the university, which will compel the "cranks" on the faculty to be more liberal. Thousands of the Cardinal graduates are scattered through the state, and if organized can bring great weight to bear on the political situation. The university could be embarrassed by legislative indifference to its needs. If it should be put up to the college authorities to "get in the game" or take the consequences there might be some quick shifts in position. A real war is threatened and its rumbling can be heard.

HIS COURTSHIP

Author of "Tillie: A Mennonite Maid."

CHAPTER XII.

KINROSS' avowed next morning to departing with his books into the woods, the small interest he felt in the philosophy of the schools as compared with the philosophy of the actual life of the Mennonite farmhouse, led him to risk exciting the suspicion of his fellow boarders by "hanging round" the kitchen porch during the greater part of the forenoon.

On coming downstairs to his breakfast he had found Eunice, as usual, at her kitchen doorway, moving about, as she always did, as though only half conscious of her surroundings. It was the result of last night's developments there had been a scene, the girl bore no sign of it.

He put a few leading questions to Mrs. Morningstar as she gave him his breakfast. This matter of his late and solitary breakfast had been a troublesome one to adjust in his assumption of the character of a farm hand, since not even his desire to retain his innocence would have induced him to get up to the family's 4 o'clock meal. He had finally, after considerable difficulty, negotiated with his landlady for breakfast in his room, except on such mornings as the coast was left clear by the early departure of the other boarders to the woods or "wherever," as Mrs. Morningstar referred to their wanderings.

"Well," he remarked as he broke an egg, while Mrs. Morningstar filled a glass with milk for him, "where was Eunice last night, anyway, when you were all looking for her?"

"Och, her!" snapped Mrs. Morningstar disparagingly. "Well, we concluded she'd went off buggy ridin' with Abe. The way she tries behind my back to make up with our Abe! I tell her she hasn't a shame, and after all I done for her yet 'ready!"

"But she had not gone with Abe?"

"Not here when Ollie she went up to bed I guess near an hour after we was 'at' in your room. I saw Eunice anywhere, why, there was Eunice in bed asleep. Ollie she walked her and not her where was she 'at' back when we was all lookin' for her, and Eunice she got stubborn headed and wouldn't answer to Ollie. She's the worst stubborn head, that girl! I just believe she was out somewhere 'makin' up' to our Abe. But Abe he got rid of her and went to see some other one, I guess, for he didn't come home till late."

Kinross wondered whether the fond mother of Abe really believed that he was the unwilling victim of Eunice's Machiavellian plots to attract him, or whether her maternal jealousy merely invented this reluctance on his part.

"I don't know what's come over Eunice here lately," Mrs. Morningstar complained as she sliced thick slices from a huge loaf of homemade bread. "Till a couple days back she always minded to me and pop and done what she was told. Here this mornin' I jawned her for not takin' that frock Miss Elly wanted to give her. I s'posed to her what right had she to as good as throw away a frock when we had to buy her all her clothes, but she wouldn't make no answer. Then pop he says she is to tell Miss Elly she's changed her mind and will take the frock off of her if she wants her to, and Eunice she didn't make pop no answer neither. Then pop he says to her did she understand she was to do this mornin', and, mind you, Eunice she told pop she wouldn't! To pop she said that I couldn't hardly believe I heard it. Why, our Ollie she wouldn't have the dare to tell pop she wouldn't!"

"And Eunice never did so before?"

"Well, I better guess she didn't!"

"That what you suppose has made the worm suddenly turn—that is to say, how do you account for her asserting herself like that all at once?"

"Och, her!"

"Well," said Mrs. Morningstar, "to be sure, no person ever offered her no frock before."

"There's something in that," Kinross admitted.

"And then I wouldn't put it past her that she's 'makin' up' because she thinks she's gettin' our Abe."

"He is a prize," granted Kinross, with apocryphal sarcasm.

"I guess, too," Mrs. Morningstar vigorously acquiesced in this view of her son.

"What did Mr. Morningstar do about it when Eunice refused to obey him?" inquired Kinross, with interest.

"Well, I never seen pop more surprised. He jawned her and he argued her till he didn't know what to say to her no more. But she just kep' her stubborn head and said she wouldn't do it to take the frock. Then pop told her she needn't wear it herself—she could give it to Ollie after the boarders had went home 'ready. Well, then, Eunice said, if Ollie wanted to wear it she'd have to not for it herself. Pop explained her that it was some different, too, 'g'in, for Ollie to not for clothes off of some one to what it was for a 'dopted girl dependent on other folks."

Mrs. Morningstar as she talked stood with her back to the door which led into the summer kitchen and so occupied was she with her story that she did not hear Eunice's light step as the girl came into the room bearing a pile of dishes that had just been washed. The clatter of the plates as they were placed in the closet made her turn with a little start.

Eunice also turned and stood with her back to the closet as she lifted her head and looked at her foster mother.

Kinross, his breakfast untouched, watched her with almost breathless interest. He seemed always to get a new impression of her face when her usually downcast eyes were raised and the soul that looked out of them was, as it were, unveiled. Those dark, luminous eyes suggested an intensity of life within of which the customary stiffness of her bearing gave no hint.

She came forward and stood at the table. Her face was pale, and she spoke in a low, imploring voice, with its little peculiar thrill, which Kinross was beginning to find singularly haunting.

"I overheard what you were saying to Dr. Kinross."

It was the first time she had spoken his name in the whole month of his stay at the farm, and it fell on his ears strangely.

"I have made up my mind that if you feel my support a burden to you and if I don't earn the food and clothes you give me I shall go away and earn my living elsewhere."

Mrs. Morningstar, unmindful of her boarder, stared for an instant dumfounded. "You'll go away?" she repeated, with a half gasp. "Where'd you go, say?"

"I don't know. But I will no longer accept charity—from you or any one. If you think you bestow charity upon me, I will go away."

"You've got the right to stay here and work to pay for all them back years we kept you before you was old enough to work for your livin'!" retorted Mrs. Morningstar angrily. "You leave pop hear you speak about goin' away, and you'll see once!"

"Abe tells me that almost ever since you first took me I have really earned my living by the work I have done and that for a long time I have earned wages besides, which have not been paid me. So it would seem," she said, with a dreary little smile, "that you are recipients of charity from me."

THE ROUNDUP COLUMN.

Willie West Offers Winter Schedule For Baseball Pipe Dreamers.

Now arrive the great winter period of baseball phantasmagoria, when sane men fall easy prey to the wild yams of the fake prophets and when starving space snatchers on the newspapers cry aloud in the night.

The baseball writer must, forsooth, be supported during the winter as well as summer, and consequently as there is little real ball news in the slow season his imagination must supply it.

For fear the writers in question may have forgotten some of their stock winter topics and hoping to give food for quiet conversation to the fans I now append a list of stories that may be sprung in rotation:

No. 1.—Groat war in baseball. Minor league and devoting earnings to begin, (already sprung.)

No. 2.—Dan Johnson announces himself a candidate for the presidency of both big leagues. (This story will create some stir in the midst of baseballdom.)

No. 3.—Comiskey of Chicago and Dan Johnson break their annual battle together to show that all is kinship and hugs in the American league. (This is the big autumnal dream.)

No. 4.—President Murphy, Chicago National, delivers his annual speech at the National league meeting. Speech printed in full in Chicago papers day before it is delivered.

No. 5.—John T. Brush and Harry Herrman have fight in the National league as to who shall press the button to call the winter. (This is the blue ribbon dream.)

No. 6.—Johnny Kling breaks the news to Murphy that he finds running a ball club too profitable to give up for baseball unless there is something doing in the region of the safety deposit vault.

No. 7.—Hughey McGraw makes a plea before Y. M. C. A. for manliness on the diamond.

No. 8.—Cambridge shows Plunk, Will Hill, Pomeroy, Cy Young and Abbie Jones and decides to take his team to Oyster Bay, N. Y., for spring training.

No. 9.—Harry Pulliam decides that he is overpaid and offers back to the National league treasury half his last year's salary.

Hal Chase, the great first baseman of the New York Americans, caused a sensation recently in ball circles by deciding to play winter ball with a so called outlaw team on the Pacific coast. According to rules, Chase would be barred from major league company until he had been forgiven by the powers that be, but his ability is of so high a class that the magnates will probably welcome him back into the major leagues next spring with open arms.

Still, in spite of his big reputation, Chase should not defy the bosses too much. They have been known to suspend better men than Chase in the past.

It looks as though Promoter Jimmie Coffey would have opposition in San Mateo county, Cal., as the Palm Athletic club is making arrangements to have a first class arena suitable for skating as well as for holding boxing contests erected within seven minutes' ride of Third and Townsend streets, San Francisco. The people behind the venture state that they have been granted a license to hold forty-five round bouts.

The news that Herman Long is dying penniless in Chicago was a great shock to the thousands of admirers the once great shortstop had when he was a member of the Boston National champions. There never was a better ball player than Long, there never was a better fellow, and there never was a poorer business man. He made thousands in his career on the diamond, and they all slipped away from his grasp like water through a sieve. He tried the hotel business in Boston and made a dismal failure. He invested in minor league teams and with one exception lost money.

BABY'S VOICE

Is the joy of the household, for without it no happiness can be complete. How sweet the picture of mother and babe! Angels smile at and commend the thoughts and aspirations of the mother bending over the cradle. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so full of danger and suffering that she looks forward to the hour when she shall feel the exquisite thrill of motherhood with indescribable dread and fear. Every woman should know that the danger, pain and horror of childbirth can be entirely avoided by the use of Mother's Friend, a scientific liniment for external use only, which toughens and renders pliable all the parts, and assists nature in its sublime work. By its aid thousands of women have passed this great crisis in perfect safety and without pain.

Donna's Kidney Pills are Indorsed in Janesville.

No better proof of merit can be had. Here's a case of it. We have plenty more like it.

Mrs. B. F. Jones, of 157 Western Ave., Janesville, Wis., says:

"I was not free from attacks of backache for a single day during several years past. I used so many remedies without getting any relief that I came to the conclusion that nothing would help me and stopped trying. I went about all bent over, could not straighten up at all and had a dull pain across the loins and a feeling of weakness that made it hard for me even to rise from a chair. At night I would awaken with the feeling that a great weight was breaking my back, and anyone who has suffered from kidney trouble will know what torture I endured. Finally I saw Donna's Kidney Pills advertised and wondered if there was really any use of trying another remedy, but seeing them recommended by people in Janesville I procured a box at the People's Drug Co. and began using them. Gradually I regained strength and the pains and aches finally disappeared. Since I have discontinued their use I have not had an attack of backache nor any symptom of kidney trouble, and I believe Donna's Kidney Pills worthy of all the praise that I can give them."

PRESS COMMENT.

In That He's a Free Agent. Oaklath Northwestern. The Milwaukee Free Press gives prominence to a report that Secretary Taft may be ordered by President Roosevelt to withdraw from the presidential contest, just as if Taft is depending on Roosevelt, or any other man for that matter, to tell him what to do!

Essential to "The Cause." Milwaukee News. Utterly impossible, the La Follette presidential candidacy is essential to "the cause" and the "reformers."

There is the prestige to be had in controlling the delegation to the national convention—the trading and alibiing for place at the patronage counter and the entrenching of "the organization" through the spoils of office.

Stagnation is death to Mr. La Follette. He must be in pursuit of an office or else the people's liberties were lost. The camp followers must be fed. The "reformers" must have sustenance or "the cause" will perish. There is the gratitude that Uncle Ike owes. There is necessity that he prove his faith. To the people he now owes greater sacrifices. As the priests in the temples of the pagan gods required that sacrifices of food and money be offered by the faithful that those within the temple might feast with the gods, so it is essential that Uncle Ike show that his faith has not been shaken.

Thus it is that the La Follette presidential candidacy is timely and useful. It is calculated to prove Uncle Ike's loyalty and gratitude and show to what degree he may be entitled to the people's confidence in the future.
